

BIEBER RIOT: Justin Bieber would have been arrested by UK police if he left his Liverpool hotel room to wave to hundreds of screaming fans this week, TMZ reported. The teen pop star was reportedly trapped in his luxury suite after a legion of screaming "Beliebers" descended on his hotel. The 17-year-old was reportedly warned to stay away from the balcony or face being arrested on the spot for inciting a riot.

DIET WOES: Britney Spears has admitted she hates cutting back on calorie-filled foods and may eventually consider surgery to make her look better. When asked about her idea of hell by Out magazine, Britney replied: "Being on a diet". The 29-year-old's love of sweet treats is said to have left her in tears during a break in her 2009 Circus world tour when she put on 6kg in one month.

Jacqui Mengler and Karen Millers

Emma Snowsill and Karen Phillips

Azra Kujovic and Sanela Kennedy

Jessica Roth, Sonya Karlsson and Lina Roth

Atlantis Dell'Acqua and Tammy Hamawi

Girls up early for wise words

NOTHING like words of inspiration and an enviable guest list to get the gals up with the sparrows on Thursday at the Early Risers breakfast for the Queensland launch of Karen Phillips' new book Words of Wisdom at Palazzo Versace.

On Tuesday the Governor-General Quentin Bryce did the formal and official Australian launch with 24 of the 50 contributors on hand including a fair smattering of locals who made the trip down to Government House in Canberra.

Judging by the long line-up for an autographed copy after the breakfast this is going to be one hot seller.

Paige Saville, Amanda O'Donnell and Grace May